Dear Ms. Brown:

I would like to introduce myself, a former Portlander, who has had a long career in public transit. I spent over ten years working for TriMet in various positions with the most recent position being the Senior Director of Operations. I helped to implement over 30 miles of new light rail service during my time at TriMet. About a year ago, I relocated to St. Petersburg, Florida to become the Executive Director of the Pinellas Suncoast Transit Authority (PSTA). PSTA is a growing bus system and our region is in the process of trying to develop a plan for implementing some type of rail service.

I am writing this letter to help introduce you to Sky Train Corporation (STC). During my time in Florida, I have had the opportunity to meet Sky Train CEO Karl W. Guenther on several occasions. I will tell you that Sky Train has a reputation as a company that is serious about the development of innovative new rail oriented public transit technologies. Sky Train has chosen to strictly design, patent, select vendors, and work with the installations of their rearranged-rail-monorail throughout the U.S., Canada, and the world.

I would encourage you to have discussions with Sky Train and see if some of their innovative ideas would align with your organizations goals.

Thank you for your consideration and best of luck in your future endeavors.

Sincerely Yours,

PINELLAS SUNCOAST TRANSIT AUTHORITY

Timothy S. Garling
Executive Director
